

Hola!

I'm Revel, nice to meet you. I'm from Bogotá, Colombia, and my job involves dealing with foreign policy negotiations globally. I focus on making sure trade is fair and policies prioritize people's safety and well-being. Despite facing some tricky situations in foreign policy, my faith in the Heavenly Father has always guided and protected me, helping me navigate trade deals.

Outside of work, I enjoy simple things like going to restaurants with friends, soaking in the warmth of companionship. I also love playing board games, with Risk being my favorite, even though it's not as popular as Monopoly.

On the personal side, I'm happily married with five children, all currently busy with their education in Bogotá. Life brings a mix of work challenges and personal joys, and I'm grateful for the diverse experiences it offers. With the Heavenly Fathers guidance may you have a good day!
